Prevention of Toyless Christmas For Vicksburg Kids Is Legion Aim

A drive for toys to help prevent the toyless Christmas facing many little children in the Vicksburg area was launched this week by the local American Legion.

Commander Lucian W. Kidd of the Clement R. Bontemps Post 139 announced that he has received an appeal from State Legion Headquarters for assistance for the victims of the recent tornado at Vicksburg.

The appeal said, in part, "Inasmuch as the many children who were left homeless by the Vicksburg tornado will have little or no Christmas, we are calling on each Post in the state to make a collection of toys from your community and ship direct to Vicksburg." It was pointed out that there is not enough time to repair toys after they arrive at Vicksburg and request was made that only toys in good repair be sent.

Latest statistics released by the American Red Cross at the scene shows that hundreds of people are homeless. Block after block of homes have been laid waste by the havoc of the tornado.

"Clothes, foodstuffs, furniture and money are badly needed by many families left destitute by the $25,000,000 tornado. These needs are being met from many sources. Even more is needed by these victims, but too little thought is being paid to the toyless Christmas which will face many of the little children," Kidd said.

"As far as we know," Kidd said, "no other collection for toys for this purpose is being made in Hancock County."

"The Legion will, however, welcome any assistance from any organization in this project," the commander pointed out.

"In practically every home in this area, there is some toy in good repair that can help to make it a 'Merry Christmas' for these unlucky little children," Kidd said.

"We are asking that everyone take the time immediately to take these toys to the Hancock County Eagle office on Court Street. If the donor is unable to deposit toys, they may call 449 to arrange for pickup of the toys."

"New toys will be forwarded for rehabilitation of the tornado victims," the Legion commander concluded.

Boy Scouts of Troop 217 will be at the Hancock County Eagle office all day Sunday to receive toys.

GEORGE BORGSTEDE DIES SUNDAY, DEC. 13

George J. Borgstede, former Bay St. Louis resident, died at his home No. 3 Marilyn Ave., Jefferson Parish, Sunday, Dec. 13, at 9:50 A.M.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Emily Josephine Mendel Borgstede, one daughter, Mrs. Allan W. Troclair of Covington, La., and two sons, George Jr. and Elliott James of Jefferson Parish.

He was the brother of Mrs. D. Bertucci, Mrs. Matthew Carl, William, Joseph, Lawrence, Robert and Lloyd Borgstede.

Funeral services were held from Tharp-Sontheimer-Tharp, Tuesday morning, Dec. 14, with requiem mass at St. Agnes Church. Interment in Garden of Memories.

During their residence in Bay St. Louis, both Mr. and Mrs. Borgstede operated businesses. A restaurant and a beauty parlor were owned and operated by them on the Beach opposite the Stevenson Electric Co. The building which housed these businesses was destroyed during the hurricane of 1947. It was following this disaster that the family sold their home on the beach at Felicita St. and returned to Jefferson Parish.

"We have received one award for increase in Membership and we expect to earn still more," Bressler said. "He said the committee hopes to exceed the 300 mark before the end of the year."

Entertains at Yacht Club

One of the larger, elaborate parties of the season was given Wednesday afternoon at the Bay Waveland Yacht Club when Mrs. Joseph R. Scharf entertained several hundred guests at a late afternoon reception.

The large dining hall of the club was exquisitely decorated with Christmas greens festooned in graceful drapes from the columns of the hall. The middle over the fireplace held a lighted figure of Santa Claus, and on either side of the figure magnificent arrangements of Gladioli and red carnations were placed.

A long table placed in front of the open fireplace was unusually beautiful with red cloth outlined with drapings of garlands of greenery. A large candelabra of silver held red lighted tapers, and red carnations were placed amid the tapers. Delicate green ferns with a frosting of white created a gossamer, misty effect for an overall picture.

Silver punch bowls at either end of the table held eggnog and punch. A never-ending supply of Christmas pastries and delicacies were served the guests.

Mrs. Scharf received her guests charmingly in a red frock with a sweetheart neckline, and wore a shoulder corsage of white carnations. Close friends of the hostess assisted her in receiving and serving the guests.

The entrance door of the club held a gay Christmas arrangement as a welcome to those invited.

Many beautiful winter costumes were worn by those present.

Christmas Carols will be sung Monday evening, December 21, when about thirty girl scouts will meet at the Methodist Parsonage.

The girls will travel around town singing the carols. They will leave the meeting place about six thirty.

Both St. Margaret's Daughters and the Altar Society sponsored the drive for subscriptions to the Diocese's official newspaper, Catholic Action, and a large number of subscriptions were obtained.

Both organizations will sponsor a pancake supper early next year.

The membership drive for the Altar Society and St. Margaret's Daughters is now on and everyone is requested to remember these organizations—$1.25 a year—in their Christmas charity.

This may be done by mailing your check to either organization as a house to house collection is hardly possible.

All colored children in the first four grades at the two schools are invited to attend. Prizes and donations have been received from Borden's Ice Cream, Ramond Electric, Dr. Walter Russo, Monti-Carver, Blossman Gas and the ladies of the Lions Club.

Earl Ramond gave details of the New Year's Eve dance to be held at Top Hat in Waveland, donated by Ed Ortle, Waveland civic leader. The dance will provide funds for the charitable activities of the Lions Club for 1954. Music will be furnished by a six piece orchestra, the Stardusters.

The next scheduled meeting of the Lions will be held Dec. 28.

TWO SIDES of the same dollar

On one side of every dollar realized from Mississippi forest resources are the tree farmers. They produce the raw material.

On the other side are the wood-using industries. They manufacture and market our forest products.

Mississippi citizens recognize the EQUAL importance of BOTH sides of our forest income dollar.

That's why our citizens are promoting improved forestry practices. And that's why more and more of our citizens are using their influence to provide a healthy business climate for our wood-using industries. Because they know that improved forestry practices and expanding forest industries will assure a more prosperous state with more jobs and more income for more Mississippians.

A small sea story which has been developed from the original fiction by the author, "From Here to Eternity" is a story of love and war, set in the Pacific during World War II. The story is told from the point of view of a soldier, who is sent to a military prison for a crime he did not commit. The story is a powerful and moving one, and is a must-read for anyone who has ever served in the military.

Set in the Pacific Harbor of 1941, in the months prior to and culminating with the attack on Pearl Harbor, "From Here to Eternity" is a compelling study of both the individual and the collective. It is a story of love and war, set in the Pacific during World War II. The story is told from the point of view of a soldier, who is sent to a military prison for a crime he did not commit. The story is a powerful and moving one, and is a must-read for anyone who has ever served in the military.

First of the soldiers is Robert E. Lee Prewitt, a bugler who once played "Taps" at Arlington Cemetery, who transfers into an infantry outfit in Schofield Barracks, Honolulu, with First Sergeant Milton Warden. Professional soldiers both, the two find much to like and respect in each other but they cannot continue as friends when the company commander forces the sergeant to give Prewitt, a brilliant boxer who once had blinded a GI in a sparring match, The Treatment, making his life miserable as possible, for his refusal to join the company boxing team. Likeable Pvt. Angelo Maggio remains the brooding, sensitive Prewitt's only friend.

It is Maggio who introduces Prewitt to Lorene, a young lady who helps Prewitt stand up against the mounting ineptness and crudeness of The Treatment, and who shelters him when, in a bloody knife battle, he kills a stockade sergeant responsible for the death of Maggio. Against this impassioned story of a soldier and his girl is told, in "From Here to Eternity" the equally bitter and moving romance which couples Warden and Karen Holmes, wife of the brutal company commander. First an accidental and unthinking affair, they gradually move to the point of real romance, with talk of divorce and marriage.

The attack on Pearl Harbor brings both affairs to an end. Warden resumes his rightful role as a leader of men, directing them with authority and skill. The fugitive Prewitt, professional soldier, attempts to rejoin his outfit and Warden, and is killed.

AGENT'S
NOTES

BY SARAH L. WEAVER
Home Demonstration Agent
Hancock County

The Big Day has arrived—Christmas Day.
The day on which your county home demonstration agent and all the Mississippi Extension Service staff wish you and yours:

A VERY MERRY CHRISTMAS AND A HAPPY NEW YEAR!

This is the day of the busiest, gayest season of all the year. The day when the traditional Christmas carols and hymns have been proclaimed and honoring for weeks ahead. To the day the little ones and Mom and Dad and all open the gay, mysterious packages that have collected under the tree.

On Christmas morn, as the packages are opened, you'll save a lot of afterwards picking up, if you'll bring the laundry basket or a large carton to drop the gift wrappings in. It will help you save in good order some of the ribbons and papers you might use again next year, or during the year.

The Christmas Tree came with those of German descent. Probably from a still older German custom of greeting guests on Christmas Day with a small tree ablaze with candles.

And Jolly Old St. Nick also has a Germanic touch. Originally he came on December 6 to see if the small boys and girls had been good. If he found they had, then on Christmas Day the Christ Child brought them presents.

This beloved fellow, St. Nicholas, really seems to know no national boundaries. He appears in some form or other here and there and everywhere. In Holland, he wears a red Bishop's robe, has a long white beard, rides on a white horse and brings gifts to fill small wooden shoes. In Iceland, Santa comes in the form of a tiny elf.

From Italy and Spain comes our custom of setting up the manger scene in our homes, churches and other places. In Italy this scene is the center of the family's celebration.

In Ireland every house has a candle in its front window to light the Christ Child on his way. In Syria, lighted candles shining in windows are symbolic of the season. In far off Labrador, children receive little lighted candles set in turnips at church services. The use of candles appears in many lands and every American home has its share of candle light at Christmas.

CANDLEWAX STAINS
And the use of candles at Christmas brings the question of removing the drippings from table linens.

The first step is to scrape the hardened wax from the surface of the cloth gently with a dull knife. Then sponge the stain with cleaning fluid, as you would treat any grease spot. If any traces of color are left, you can usually remove them by sponging with a cloth dipped in a mixture of two parts water to one part rubbing alcohol.

Remember the safe way, whenever you use cleaning fluid: Use it outdoors or in a well ventilated room.
